

Samuel J. Heiks, M.D.

Primary Care Associates of Appleton is a team of caring people that values excellent patient care and commitment to the community. I know this first-hand: my family doctor growing up was a founding member of PCA.

Family Medicine is a specialty that puts its emphasis on a strong patient-doctor relationship, which I think is the most important part of medicine. It is a privilege getting to know my patients and being a partner in their healthcare over time.
