

Merici A. Awe, MD

Being a Family Medicine physician at Primary Care Associates of Appleton allows me to practice medicine independent of the major health systems, with the support of high quality physician partners and staff.

I grew up in a small farming town in Wisconsin where I was taught the importance of hard work, respect, trust, and community. Those values helped shape me into who I am today. I strive to engage and educate my patients so they can make the most appropriate health care decisions for themselves.
