

Brandon Bukovitz, MD

About Me

My philosophy of care is to empower patients through collaborative decision-making, focusing on an open dialogue that places individual goals at the center. As a dual-certified internist and geriatrician, I understand that what matters most for one patient may differ for another. As your doctor, you can count on me to stay up-to-date with the latest medical advances while placing your concerns first as we formulate an individualized treatment plan. Your goals, hopes, and expectations will be at the heart of every decision.

I chose Internal Medicine because I enjoy the diversity and complexity of caring for adult patients of all ages. My own experience of feeling unheard by a doctor when my son faced health challenges has made me keenly aware of the importance of listening. It is deeply fulfilling to get to know patients, build trust, and be part of their lives over time, supporting their well-being through both preventive visits and acute care. Earning that trust and being a collaborative, compassionate partner in their healthcare journey is a privilege I cherish.

[www.primarycareofappleton.com/
Doctors-Staff/InternalMedicine/BrandonBukovitzMD](http://www.primarycareofappleton.com/Doctors-Staff/InternalMedicine/BrandonBukovitzMD)

Brandon Bukovitz, MD

Education

Medical Degree:

University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health, Madison, WI

Residency:

Aurora Health Care, Milwaukee, WI

Professional Interests

Fellowship in Geriatrics

Preventive health

Diabetes

Personal

I enjoy exploring different cultures and have traveled across six continents. My wife and I are also avid ballroom dancers, and I love cheering on the Badgers and Packers with our four children. Whether I'm spending time with family, reading to my kids, or sharing in patients' milestones, each day is a reminder of the profound rewards in helping others lead healthier, fuller lives.

(920) 996-1000

3916 N. Intertech Ct., Appleton, WI 54913